Out of Hand

Deby Miller's Fabric Sculptures are the result of years of costuming for the Movie Industry. This cast of characters have a personality and style that makes each completely unique and desired. Born of vintage cloth and jewels these sculptures are brought to life and posed in their own fashion. You might recognize someone you know...

The Herb Farm

Angela Belyea works with a variety of natural fibres from both animals and plants to honour the timeless creators who enriched both themselves and their environments. Spinning, weaving, dyeing knitting and rug hooking – proudly hand-made and locally-grown."

Safe Sox

Stefan Mildenberger will demonstrate knitting on his antique 130 year old sock cranker. There will be an abundance of brilliant coloured socks for ladies and men, fingerless gloves and more....

Tangled Flocks

Sara and Krista Shakleton are creative and passionate about living local, sustainability and the environment. "We are really about producing fibre 'from the ground up' so to speak." The sisters manage an eclectic flock of spoiled rotten fibre animals, including Angora rabbits, Cashmere goats, Alpacas, Shetland sheep and one Angora goat. They harvest and process their home-grown fibre resulting in unique knit and felted goods that they can truly boast is LOCAL!! Oh, and naturally beautiful!!

Come in from the cold to experience the natural and exotic fibres processed locally and hand painted, hand spun, knitted, felted, woven and fashioned into woolly items for everyone. Enjoy spinning, weaving and needle felting demonstrations and meet the artist' participants.
